Coupling time distributions for different loads